Erickson is a conservative who has not been reluctant to tell his audience the truths he thinks they need to know as opposed to engaging in the daily dance of affirmation and only telling them what they want to hear.

“In the four years I’ve worked with Erick, I’ve been astounded by his talent, his understanding of media and the marketplace and his ability to build a business... Erick is true to his beliefs, does not conform to the talking points, is thoroughly refreshing and it is for those reasons he is often the most listened to local talk show host in the US. Moving to the bigger stage, he will bring much success to those that join him.”
